

WHAT CAN WE EXPECT FROM 2024

The question is appropriate but can not be answered with one direct answer. The first answer is 'who' can you expect in 2024. You see the answer to what can you expect in 2024 is directly related to who you can expect in 2024.

As I have said before you are in a great shift on earth and you are all in different areas of that shift. Therefore someone who has buckled down and been doing the internal work necessary to get in tune with their new frequency can expect different things from those who are still busying themselves with external things and people, ultimately avoiding the work on themselves.

Who are you taking into 2024? Is it the same version of you that met 2020 with dread? The same person who spent 2021 in fear, 2022 and 2023 in confusion and frustration. To that I say well 2024 will look much like 2023.

As I have also said time on your side is set to clocks and calendars. Time on the other side is set to lessons, milestones and development. So while January 1st marks a new year in your understanding it doesn't mean a new 'time' for you.

For those of you who are still in relationships that are not good for your health, mental and physical then the energy from those relationship will carry into 2024. For those of you who have started to recognize that not every person you meet should be in your life forever you are starting to move forward. For those of you who have either dramatically cut people out your life or just slowly moved away from people you can expect this next time frame to rest and repair. You have cleared the path for new people to enter where the previous ones were. These 'new' people will be more on your wavelength now. You will move forward in relationship prosperity. Whether it be romantically, friendships or family. Relationship prosperity is where there is love and support and a genuine wishing for those around you to do well and vice versa. Those of you who are still hanging on to things that no longer serve your better good then you will spend the next year being shown that it is time to move on. When you do move on then please see the forecast for those who have. For those of you who have felt stuck in life. The same theory applies. For those of you who are stuck still you will remain in that lesson until you start to move out of it. The responsibility falls on you to move, any direction, just take a step and signal to us, Creator, your guides any direction then we will follow suit. For those of you who have started getting out of your comfort zone and opening the doors placed in front of you you will have a sense of time speeding up. You will start to see your goals and your 'purpose' come speeding towards you. You need to remember that this is a time of free will and design. As I said before the challenges you face now may seem more difficult but once you conquer, the rewards will be much larger and come much quicker than before. Open every door put in front of you. You have to take any steps in order to get somewhere so these doors opening now are creating the hall way to what you want. Go in each door and come out when the lesson is learned and don't get lost in there. Go in, look, listen and learn/apply and get out.

For those those who are staying stuck due to fear and confusion this 'year' will be a long one. You will stay where you are until you walk out of it. For those who have just started getting in motion, some not knowing where that motion will go but you've started, this year will be very prosperous with a new excitement for life. You will reap the rewards of motion and you will experience your rewards in a very fast manner. You will look back week after week in awe of how 'quickly' things are coming together.

Let discuss people as a whole. What does your earth look like? What can you expect from society, your governments, the fighting? Well you see that is up to you my relations. Have you had enough? I would encourage you if you've not done so yet to turn off your 'news'. Your news now is nothing more than a commentary based off of political and financial motivations. When you turn off your news you shut down the access for it to control your emotions. The news should be looked at as no different than a television commercial selling their product. It just happens that your news doesn't tell you the product they are selling, you don't know what they are pushing but I can tell you this. What they are selling is not in your best interest to purchase. The time is coming my relations were there will be a more unified and peaceful existence on earth but before the calm there will be storms. The wars your planet is engaging in now does not have the steam they used to. Wars on your planet used to be endorsed by most humans. There was a time where mothers took pride in sending their children off to war because they were 'part of something for the greater good'. Was it actually the greater good?, I can not say, it was how your planet was and it was appropriate for the energy of the time. However now you all know better now so many of you do better.

Let me say this, the skirmishes on your planet right now are completely contrary to where your planet is going and the energy there now. People as a whole are no longer on board with them like they were many years ago. Many people are now looking at them in disgust from all angles. There will be a time coming my relations were the wars as you know them will no longer happen. This will not be an overnight change but I can tell you we now see a path on your planet where they will not exist as they do now.

Listen closely, lessons are lessons and the same lessons that apply to an individual apply to society as a whole. When you truly start to change something for the better there is inevitably a push back or set back where you have a choice. You can return to your comfort zone and the place you've been stuck or you can acknowledge this is the 'push back' and say no, I will not go back, I will continue on this path despite the set back. Lessons for humanity are no different. While many of you are working towards bringing light to this planet you will still have those that have pushed a darker agenda who will continue on with their agenda. The difference now is that those seeking to lighten the planet will look and say 'no, I am not going back there, I do not accept this, I do not want this'. Many of you are now saying no, I will not pick a side, I will take the third option which is peace. The more of you that get to that point where you no longer want the darkness, the light will grow brighter and brighter. The dark will have no where to run and eventually it will become too bright for the dark to keep hiding. There are institutions on your planet that have been hiding in the dark for centuries. If you look closely enough you will see them. Why an institution starts (good intentions) is rarely where the institution ends.

So hold on relatives, that is what this time is. No different that on a personal level where you are working on yourself and now saying no to things that don't suite your new energy, your world is also experiencing this lesson. To those light carriers now is your time to say no, we no longer accept this. How can you do that? The only way possible. Lead by example. Be gentle in this world, do good things daily to bring the light to those around you by physical acts.

Look at it this way. Say every human is holding a candle and only one person has theirs lit. That one person with the lit candle will look around and say my goodness I can't light all of these candles, the effort is futile. Well that is because you are thinking individually not as a part of humanity. So now what if that one person with the candle lights the 4 candles of people around them. Then those 4 people light 4 more people's candles. Then those 16 people light 4 candles each and you get the picture here.

In that scenario no one person came down with a blow torch and lit the candles for everyone. Everyone took the time and personal responsibility to light 4 candles beside them and before you know it the whole world is engulfed in light and there can be no darkness where there is light. Think about this closely dear relatives, no one being came and lit the candles of everyone, instead everyone shared in the responsibility. This is another key for this new energy my relations. I will offer this, you are not God's children, you are a part of God. God is in you, you physically have a piece of that energy in you. Now is the time to start acting on that. There was a time where to think of yourself as Gods children was appropriate but children grow up. You have now grown and it's time to own that you are a part of a higher divinity, your soul is part of it and the decision making for this planet, your consciousness is part of Creator, if all of you could see that, could see the spark in yourselves well the world would be lit up. You are not a separate entity of Creator, you are a part of the consciousness that is Creator.

So you my relations have full control what 2024 will look like. I can say the potential is there for anything, if you want peace be peace, if you want happiness be happiness and light the candles of peace and happiness around you.

Learn your lessons and move on to new ones because that is how you will make your next calendar year one to remember. Let 2024 be your catalyst into a new life, a life you always thought you wanted but didn't think possible. It is possible because remember my relations, you are the architects, send us the blueprints and we'll gather the material you'll need to build and bring them to you as long as you're ready to do the building. So now I must ask you my relatives, will you tell me what is in store for the future because it is after all up to you.